Description:

Millstream-Chichester National Park is a comfortable two hour drive from Karratha in Western Australia (WA) and offers some of the best nature based camping opportunities in the region. Covering an area of approximately 200,000 hectares around the Fortescue River – the heartland of the Yindjibarndi people - this lush oasis of deep gorges and palm-fringed rock pools provides a stark contrast to the surrounding landscape of rocky escarpments and rolling spinifex-covered hills. Millstream National Park is a 1.5 hour drive south of Karratha, which is a 2 hour flight or 16 hour drive north of Perth.

Site Condition:

Millstream is an oasis in the desert nestled within the chocolate brown rocks of the Chichester Range dotted with spinifex and snappy gums.

General Notes:

Yindjibarndi people are the traditional landowners of WA's Millstream-Chichester National Park. Lands in this region may be subject to Native Title and the Yamatji Marlap Aboriginal Corporation should be contacted for further information.

Jurisdictions::
